

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I'm a disabled veteran of Operation Iraqi Freedom and I'm damn well tired of you people only looking out for the interests of yourselves. I survive on a limited income while I go to school to better myself. The last thing I need are you fatcats raising the prices on something else. Leave things that are not broken damn well alone. Maybe Saddam wasn't the only government leader that needs overthrowing.

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,

Jeremy Bagley
